SELF-RELIANCE

Practical Methods of Developing Initiative and Responsibility in the Young

"Most questions of modern life would be answered if we could but solve the knotty problem of how best to teach children to stand on their own feet, to shoulder the responsibility for their own actions, to accept with enlightened willingness their fair share of the world's work. Therefore, I am going to write a book for parents on self-reliance and responsibility.

"The whole trend of American life is away from the old, plainly visible, individual responsibility. It takes a great deal more ingenuity on the part of parents than it used to, to give their children the tonic knowledge that effort precedes enjoyment. If the fathers and mothers wish to replace the older direct contact with necessities, by activities tending as surely to self-reliance, they must bestir themselves and find new formula and new devices."

—MRS. FISHER in the First Chapter of "Self-Reliance."

Mrs. Fisher has put in this book the things about helping children to help themselves which every sane mother knows to be true, but which most of them have forgotten in the hurry and press of modern domestic life. She has developed ideas about the cultivation of self-reliance and a sense of responsibility in the child which every sane mother knows to be true, but which few of them have stopped to think out. She writes about the problems which beset all parents in a way which they can all understand and from which they can all profit.

AUTHORS' BOOKS

It was suggested at the convention in Chicago that the bookseller should be advised when a work is an author's book, i. e., a book published in whole or largely at the author's expense, supposedly in order that he may not invest unduly in a proposition which the publisher is not issuing on the usual publishing basis, and which presumably will not be given the same publicity that the publisher's regular line receives. The same point was raised recently in England and the Author, the official organ of the English Society of Authors, urges, in extenuation of the publisher's "conspiracy of silence" in regard to these authors' books, that "The publisher who produces a book at the expense of the author, and undertakes to do his best to publish it and push it through all the ordinary trade channels, is in a certain position of trust and confidence to the author. It would be a breach of his trust if the publisher made a statement to the bookseller of the details of the contract under which the book was being published. The breach would be a more serious one if, as is suggested by Mr. Shaylor's statement, such revelation would be likely to reduce the sale of the author's book."

The problem is certainly a nice one. To the uninitiate a published volume is a work upon which the publisher has certified by his imprint his approval, by being willing to stake his capital upon it. No one realizes the fallacy of such an assumption, however, so well as the publisher—and the author. The practice of allowing the author to pay in whole or in part for the publication of his manuscript is by no means confined to certain of the smaller and less-known publishing houses. All publishers, unless we are much mistaken, have authors' books on their lists. There is nothing underhanded in their publication, for of certain books the reputable publisher says quite frankly, "These books are not of such a nature as to make a wide appeal, and consequently, however worthy they may be, we cannot afford to publish them without the author's assistance."

This is not all. Some authors prefer and insist upon publishing at their own risk, for various reasons, works on which their publishers would be very glad to take all the risk, and which return very considerable profits. Both of these classes of publication are certainly "authors' books," but with none of the derogatory flavor which that phrase usually carries.

Yet the bookseller complains, and with much justice, that most of the books he buys are, as Mr. Temple Scott recently called them, pigs in pokes; and that he relies in buying them very largely on the publishers' representations that the aforementioned unseen animals have that size and healthy liveliness that will translate them eventually into profits. The publisher tacitly, he says, presents his wares with this statement: "I have discovered this book. I believe it will sell. I believe so strongly that it will sell that I have risked many dollars in putting it on the market. Because I have risked so much I feel justified in asking you to risk some more dollars in stocking up on it for retail sale. Take my word for it; it's going to sell."

This is what the bookseller assumes the publisher to be saying, what indeed he is justified in assuming that the publisher is saying. But suppose the case to be one of an author's book, however meritorious. The publisher's statement would really have to be something like this to square with the facts: "An author brought this book to me. It is good stuff of its kind but I didn't see any real sale for it. I told the author I couldn't risk any money in its publication for that reason, and I have not. I do not feel justified therefore in asking you to stock up on it for I feel sure you would lose money. To the very limited class to which it appeals I think, however, you are reasonably certain of making sales, if you have any of that class in your store's clientele."

But the publisher replies that, if by mentioning the words "author's book" he suggested anything like the second of the above hypothetical statements, he would be disloyal to his author and would, by deliberately warning off the bookseller, destroy whatever chances of success the book might justifiably deserve to have. And what of the cases, not unheard of, where publishers erred (negatively instead of positively), and a despised "author's book" leaped into genuine popularity. A warning tag on an author's book would go far to prevent any such delightful contingency.

The problem is, as was said before, a pretty one, one of that puzzling class where "something can be said on both sides."

PROPOSERS OF STEPHENS BILL HEARD BY HOUSE COMMITTEE.

ADVOCATES of the Stephens bill to legalize price fixing of branded articles of merchandise by the manufacturers of such articles were heard by the House Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce on May 30. Paul Nystrom, formerly connected with the University of Wisconsin as an economist and at present a manufacturer, of Weehawken, N. J., was the principal witness.

Mr. Nystrom gave five reasons for the passage of the Stephens bill. He contended that the legislation would (1) reduce trade friction and waste; (2) reduce the cost of distributing goods; (3) equalize conditions of competition between large and small dealers; (4) affect no one adversely except the price cutter, and (5) prove beneficial to the buying public.

Sol Westerfield, of Chicago, vice-president of the National Retail Grocers' Association, told the committee that he indorsed the argument presented by Mr. Nystrom. Many business men from various cities were present as advocates of the bill. Among them were John Steeneck and B. Wieting of the New York Retail Grocers, Peter Becker and John H. Meyer of the United Retail Grocers of Brooklyn; Thomas Latham, New York County Pharmaceutical Association; Louis Berger, New York Pharmaceutical Conference; E. A. Boetzel, Metropolitan Association of Retail Druggists; Charles Recht, Yorkville Merchants' Association; R. S. Lehman, German Apothecary Society; Carl E. Ackerman, secretary of the Conference of the Independent Retailers of the Metropolitan District of New York; Dr. Joseph Weinstein and H. Sarason, New York Retail Druggists; Louis Hubner, Manhattan and Bronx Retail Grocers; Nicholas Ehrlich, Brooklyn Retail Cigar Dealers' Association; Henry Frank and Charles Lent, Stationers' Association of New York; J. M. Kohlmeier, Hardware Dealers' Association, and Charles Thorpe, secretary of the New York State Retail Grocers' Assn. Mrs. Christine Frederick and Mrs. Julian Heath, of New York, urged the value of branded, standard-price household goods May 31. Opponents of the bill will be heard later.

PITTS DUFFIELD LEAVES DUFFIELD & CO.

PITTS DUFFIELD, who, with Rector K. Fox, founded the business of Duffield & Company, then Fox, Duffield & Company, in 1903, retires this month from active participation in the company's affairs. He is succeeded as president by Frederick S. Hoppin, formerly with Charles Scribner's Sons. Samuel McLean Loweree will remain secretary and treasurer.

BOOK FAIR AT LYONS, FRANCE.

DESPITE the war, the French publishers', booksellers', and authors' associations held a successful book fair in the city of Lyons, in southern France, during the closing week of April. While the book week was primarily a book-trade affair, the city of Lyons co-operated with the book-trade committee, placing a municipal building at their disposal, and arranging a varied programme for the week. The mayor of the city and the prefect of the Rhone were among those who formally opened the fair.

The list of exhibitors included MM. Alcan et Lisbonne; Attinger; Belin frères Baschet (Illustration); Beau-chesne; Berger-Levrault; Boivin; Calmann-Lévy; Chapelot; Charles-Lavauzelle; Librairie A. Colin; Crès; Delagrave; Editions Delandre; MM. Delaplane; Delmas; Dorbon; Editions françaises illustrées; Flammarion et fils; Gazette des Beaux-Arts; Hachette et Cie; Hatier; Jouan; Librairie Larousse; H. Laurens; Lethielleux; André Lesot; Librairie générale de droit et jurisprudence; A. Maloine; Nathan; Perrin et Cie; Payot; Plon-Nourrit; Alphonse Picard; Rey, de Grenoble; Rieder; Schwarz; Tallandier; Tenin.

The local booksellers arranged an excellent exhibition of rare and extra bound books.

The interesting programme for the book week was as follows:

Tuesday. Opening exercises at the Grand-Théâtre. M. Dalimier, under-secretary of state for fine arts, presiding. Addresses by the following, subject "French Literature before and after the War": MM. Edouard Herriot, mayor of Lyons; Pierre Decourcelle, president of the Société des Gens de lettres; R. Coolus, president of the Société des Auteurs et Compositeurs dramatiques; Edmond Haraucourt, president of the Société des Poètes français; J. H. Rosny, of the Académie de Goncourt. Eulogy by M. Maurice Barrès, of l'Académie française, on "French Authors Who Have Fallen in Battle."

Wednesday. Performance of Racine's "Britannicus" and of François Coppée's "Le Passant" at the Grand-Théâtre by a caste from the Comédie-Française. Conference on the future of book manufacturing in France.

Thursday. Lecture by M. Guglielmo Ferrero, of the University of Turin, on "The Latin Genius." Motion pictures of book-trade activities in foreign countries, etc.

Saturday. Musical programme in honor of Enrique Granados and Alberic Magnard, under the direction of M. Henri Rabaud, of the Paris Opera, with the orchestra of the Grand-Théâtre.

Sunday. Lecture by M. Emile Boutroux, de l'Académie française, on "Latin Civilization and German Culture."

EXPLOSIVE MAKERS DENY RESPONSIBILITY FOR PAPER FAMINE

THERE has been some resentment among paper users against the manufacturers of high explosives who, it has been claimed by the paper manufacturers, are largely responsible for present high paper costs. E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co. have sent out a letter to the members of the Association of National Advertisers which seems to refute this charge. The letter reads:

"We have just received a house organ, Paragraphs, issued by Smith, Dixon Company, Division The Whitaker Paper Co., Baltimore, Maryland, containing an article 'The World Confronting a Paper Famine—Why Prices Must Go Higher.'

"In this article statements are made as follows:

"But cellulose is also the basis of modern high explosives.

"The Du Pont powder mills have installed an enormous battery of beaters having a capacity vastly greater than the capacity of any paper mill in the United States. They are paying fabulous prices for rag stock and commanding the first choice of rags all over the country.

"What in normal times would be the fibrous texture of fine papers is now being converted into ammunition for bomb and torpedo and howitzer and machine gun.

"It is the publication of incorrect statements like this that causes panic. We do not make explosives from paper stock. We make guncotton from cotton, and smokeless powder is made from guncotton. We also manufacture soluble cotton having lower degree of nitration than guncotton, and not explosive, for use in the manufacture of Fabrikoid and the pyroxylin solutions sold by the Du Pont Chemical Works.

"The Arlington Company of Arlington, N. J., which we own, manufactures pyralin, a product of the nature of celluloid, which is made from nitrated rag stock. The Arlington Company recently bought a paper mill in Norwich, Conn., having eight beaters; two new beaters are being installed, designed to replace two of the original eight. The Arlington Company recently bought a supply of rag stock for which higher prices were paid than formerly, but neither the amount bought nor the prices paid were such as to create more than slight and temporary flurry in the rag market.

"Now as to the conservation of paper: The solution of this problem is largely in the hands of advertisers and business houses in general. For instance, we had a plan to double the size of our house organ with a circulation of 200,000 per month, but have decided to suspend this matter for the present rather than to further disturb the paper market. We will also, until the situation is relieved, publish every other month instead of every month. All our offices will be immediately supplied with half-size letterheads to be used for short letters. We will do no circularizing not absolutely necessary. In every other way that will not seriously interfere with our business, we will make an earnest effort to conserve paper. If every member of the Association of National Advertisers will adopt the same policy, we are confident that relief will be immediate and prices will again become normal or nearly so.

"One more important point is to see that all waste paper is resold rather than burned. Our advertising department has a regular monthly income from the sale of old paper and obsolete electrotypes, half-tones and line cuts. If every advertising manager will look over his stock of cuts and sell the metal of those that are no longer needed, it will help the metal market and will help prevent prices of cuts and electrotypes from going higher."

COPYRIGHT NOTES

BILL EXTENDING COPYRIGHT TO PERIODICALS IN FOREIGN LANGUAGES PRINTED ABROAD PASSES HOUSE

H. R. 588*, introduced by Mr. Bennet, has passed the House of Representatives. The bill proposes to except periodicals in foreign languages from the requirement of American manufacture, changing section 15 of the copyright code as indicated in the following italics: "That of the printed book or periodical specified in section five, sub-section (a) and (b) of this Act, except the original text of a book or periodical of foreign origin in a language or languages other than English, the text of all copies accorded protection under the Act, except as below provided, shall be printed from type set within the limits of the United States," etc.

AUTHORS' LEAGUE OUT FOR COPYRIGHT REFORM

THE schedule of the activities of the Authors' League of America for the coming year includes a generous program of copyright reform. This intention and at least one proposed reform is set forth in an article in the Bulletin of the league:

"The end of the third fiscal year of the league shows a truly remarkable growth both in numbers and in the scope of the service. With over 1200, in fact almost 1300, names on our list, we have become a powerful organization, one to be reckoned with.

"The keynote hitherto has been service. The time has now come when we can, without in any wise impairing the efficiency of the services rendered to all members who ask for them and to some who don't, strike a new note—Reform.

"No author or other producer of copyrightable material need be told that there are many matters in connection with the business side of literature and art which could be changed for the better. Among the first of these are our copyright laws, which, together with the common law rights of literary and artistic property, form the basis upon which is reared the structure of our literature and art.

"It is a lasting shame and scandal that the United States is almost the only great country which has not and cannot join the International Copyright Union, to which belong, under the Berne and Berlin Conventions, the following countries: Belgium, Denmark, France, Germany, Great Britain, Haiti, Italy, Japan, Liberia, Luxembourg, Monaco, Norway, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, Tunis.

"The strength of this union is amply proven by the fact that its provisions are adhered to even in these days of tremendous international conflict. Its treaties have been regarded in the present war, in spite of the abrogation of all other friendly relations.

*See PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY, March 4, 1916.

DISPLAY OF "THE STRANGE CASES OF MASON BRANT" (LIPPINCOTT) MADE AT BRENTANO'S, WASHINGTON. THE ARRESTING SIGNS AND THE DISPLAY OF BURGLAR'S TOOLS IN THE FOREGROUND ADD TO THE INTEREST OF THIS DETECTIVE STORY WINDOW.

"That the United States is still without the bounds of the relations established by the remainder of the civilized world for the protection of literary and artistic property is due to the fact that certain provisions are included in the United States Copyright Act which are not in accord with the principles of reciprocity.

"In the first place, any book in the English language in order to secure copyright registration in this country must be type-set, printed and bound here. In the second place, any book in a foreign language in order to secure copyright protection in this country must be deposited and registered at Washington in accordance with the provisions of the copyright law.

"The Berne-Berlin conventions are based on reciprocity. Provided that a citizen of any one of the signatory states complies with the copyright regulations of his own country, his work is automatically copyrighted in all the other countries subscribing to the conventions.

"This condition must be remedied. The league can do this if the members will individually, and as a body, support the campaign which will shortly be commenced."

The league has appointed a Copyright and Legislative Committee consisting of George Barr Baker, chairman, Sophie Irene Loeb, and another to be named later. Eric Schuler, secretary of the league, and B. H. Stern, council for the league, are ex-officio members.

HERBERT v. SHANLEY DECISION AFFIRMED ON APPEAL.

THE case of Herbert v. Shanley, appealed from the United States District Court (see

P. W. July 3, 1915), was adjudicated in the Circuit Court of Appeals, Second Circuit, on January 11 of this year (229 F. R., 340), Judge Rogers handing down a decree affirming that of the lower court. It will be recalled that the authors copyrighted the dramatico-musical composition "Sweethearts," and the publishers later took out separate copyright in the vocal number "Sweethearts." The latter was sung in defendant's restaurant and the authors, holding dramatico-musical copyright, brought suit.

After citing Church v. Hilliard in which it was held that a certain musical composition is not infringed where the music is publicly rendered in the dining-room of a hotel, which is open to the guests without charge for admission, Judge Rogers summed up the present case as follows:

"(1) Complainants cannot claim the benefit of the copyright of the dramatico-musical composition for that portion of the composition which they republished separately and without notice of the copyright previously obtained.

"(2) The copyright of the song 'Sweethearts' as a separate musical composition, even if valid, is not infringed by its being rendered in a public restaurant where no admission fee is charged, although the performer is privately paid for rendering it by the proprietor of the resort.

"Decree affirmed."

BOOK-TRADE ASSOCIATIONS
STATIONERS' AND PUBLISHERS' BOARD OF TRADE LUNCHEON

A LUNCHEON will be given by the Stationers' and Publishers' Board of Trade at one o'clock

Tuesday afternoon, June 6, at the Hardware Club, 253 Broadway. The price of tickets is $1.50. In the past year or two the Stationers' and Publishers' Board of Trade has considerably expanded the sphere of its activities, and although reports of such activities have been printed in the trade press and otherwise circulated, the trustees have felt that the good work already accomplished and the trade betterments contemplated by the organization should be imparted to the members and others interested in a more intimate way than has been as yet undertaken. It is with this end in view that the luncheon at the Hardware Club has been arranged.

MORE PLANS FOR THE N. Y. BOOKSELLERS' LEAGUE FIELD DAY

Because of the coincidence of the Field Day falling on June 24th, Doubleday, Page & Co. have donated 350 copies of "The Twenty-fourth of June" as souvenirs. Barse & Hopkins offer a cup for the ladies' golf putting contest. Several other cups have been donated by other houses, but as yet it has not been decided to what events they will apply. The committee is considering offering a prize for the costume best suggesting the title of some of the current books. It has also been suggested that the committee offer a prize for the best 500 word paper on how to sell fiction for summer reading. This has not been definitely decided upon.

OBITUARY NOTES

GEORGE A. DAVIS, who was in bookselling for many years in Norwich, Conn., died suddenly in that city on Decoration Day, May 30th. He started in business under the firm name of Noyes & Davis, which was well known in the trade until twenty years ago, when he bought out his partner and continued under his own name. He was about sixty years of age.

PERSONAL NOTES.

ALFRED NOYES has sailed for England to offer his services to his country. If he is not taken as an active soldier he plans to join the ambulance service. He expects to return to America next spring to resume his work at Princeton during the second semester.

HENRY JAMES left an estate of £8961 ($44,805). He bequeathed a portrait of himself painted by Sargent to the National Portrait Gallery of London. If the gallery does not accept it, it will go to the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York, according to the terms of the will.

PERIODICAL NOTES.

THE FIRST ISSUE of the American Proof-reader appeared June 1. It is published monthly in New York by Jacob Backes, who was recently connected with the proofrooms of the Curtis Publishing Company of Philadelphia.

JOSEPH P. KNAPP, president of the American Lithographic Company, chairman of the executive committee of the Crowell Publishing Company, president of the Mercantile Company, of the Knapp Company, is now president of the Every Week Corporation, New York City. He has moved his office to the latter magazine's quarters and will give it his personal attention.

HENRY LANE WILSON, former American Ambassador to Mexico, has filed suit for $350,000 damages against Norman Hapgood, former publisher of Harper's Weekly, in the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia. The complaint charges that Mr. Hapgood was responsible for the publication of a series of articles by Robert H. Murray, entitled "Huerta and the Two Wilsons," which held the complainant up to public ridicule.

WHEN THE COPYRIGHT AND GOODWILL and the receiver's interest in the machinery and plant of that one time leading London daily newspaper, the Standard, was recently put up for auction, the highest bid was £10,000. The auctioneer said he could not accept this offer, and the property was withdrawn. The copyright and goodwill were subsequently offered separately and also withdrawn. One of the conditions was that the plant and machinery would not be sold unless the goodwill was also sold.

THE RAILWAY PERIODICALS CO., INC., has sold its three publications—Railway Engineering and Maintenance of Way, Railway Master Mechanic and Monthly Official Railway List to the Simmons-Boardman Publishing Company, New York. The first named will be published under the name of Railway Maintenance Engineer, to which will be added the Maintenance of Way Section of the Railway Age Gazette, heretofore published as a part of that paper once a month. The Railway Master Mechanic will be continued under that name, while the Monthly Official List has been sold to the Railway Equipment & Publication Company, New York, publisher of the Quarterly Pocket List of Railroad Officials.

MESSRS. MACMILLAN, London, announce the forthcoming publication of History: The Quarterly Journal of the Historical Association, edited by Professor A. F. Pollard, with the assistance of an editorial board representative of teachers appointed by the council of the association. Apart from reviews and other guidance as to the best books for use in class, "in its columns will be discussed the relative values of economic and social history, military and naval, constitutional, ecclesiastical, and political, English and foreign, local and national, ancient and modern, together with their bearing upon civics and patriotism and the problems of Empire and foreign politics." Part I. is expected at once.

IT SURELY is rather a desperate venture to launch at the present moment a new magazine that has nothing to do with the war, says the English Publishers' Circular; but Max Bellos has published the first two numbers of The Link, a magazine to be issued to the members of the association he has formed for linking together those who are interested in special studies or hobbies. These have been classified under 62 numbers, and each member has a number given him or her, and following the names in the list are the numbers referring to the subjects specialized in by the member. For example, those members interested in languages, heraldry, ornithology, gardening, flying, travel, chess, would have the numbers 3, 11, 27, 37, 45, 53, 60, and thus other members can get into touch with people all over the world having sympathetic interests. The first number, besides the list of 150 members, contains articles on Bohemia, the Welsh language movement, astronomy, etc.

THE INTERNAL AFFAIRS of the Revue des Deux Mondes, the greatest French review, have always been wrapped in considerable mystery. The capital of the periodical, says the Paris correspondent of the Dial, consists of eighty-three shares of 5000 francs each, more than a third of which is owned by the Buloz family. Their value is far greater than the invested capital; and at times, but this is not the case to-day, they have paid a dividend greater than this capital. This decline in the value of the shares is due to several causes, the first being the mismanagement of Charles Buloz, the son and successor, until 1893, in the editorship of the founder, François Buloz; and the second being the general tendency in France to-day away from review reading. But the broader and more modern views of Francis Charmes were doing much to revive the material prosperity of the periodical. An important factor in the management of the Revue is the Committee of Surveillance, which represents the shareholders. In February this board voted four to two in favor of M. René Doumic, of the French Academy, as M. Charmes's successor, and at the beginning of March this nomination was confirmed at a general meeting of the shareholders. M. Doumic has been the regular literary or dramatic critic of the Revue since 1893. He has traveled in the United States, and was the first of those French professors who now lecture so frequently before our universities.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

THE CENTURY Co. announces for publication within the next few weeks "Making Type Work," a book on the typography of advertising by Benjamin Sherbow.

"THE ENGLISH CATALOGUE OF BOOKS FOR 1915," which was unavoidably delayed this spring, is now ready. The Office of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the American agency for this catalogue.

THE FOURTH VOLUME of "The Life of Benjamin Disraeli, Earl of Beaconsfield," is announced by Macmillan for June 14th. This begins with the year 1855 and continues the narrative of events through 1868.

THE PAGE COMPANY will publish in June "Texas: The Marvelous," a new volume in the See America First Series by Nevin O. Winter, author of "Mexico and Her People of to-day," etc.

"WHO'S WHO IN AMERICA" for 1916-1917 is ready. The publishers, A. N. Marquis & Co., state that the new edition contains over 2500 new sketches and that the 3000 page volume contains over 22,000 biographical sketches in all.

THE CAPITAL of the Times Book Co.—the London Times' scheme which had the whole English book-trade by the ears a half dozen years ago because of its disregard of net prices—has been reduced from £120,000 to £23,250. 21,791 shares have been sold to date at £1 per share.

DISPLAY OF "THE RED HORIZON" BY PATRICK MACGILL (DORAN) MADE BY GEORGE W. JACOBS & CO., PHILADELPHIA. A LARGE REPRODUCTION OF THE JACKET DESIGN FORMS THE BACKGROUND OF THE WINDOW.

T. FISHER UNWIN has made a joint publication arrangement with Messrs. John Bale, Sons & Danielson, whereby he also will supply the trade (English and export) with all their general publications. The arrangement does not affect the medical publications which John Bale, Sons & Danielson will continue to supply exclusively.

THE PRINCETON UNIVERSITY PRESS published on June 1 "A Book of Princeton Verse," a volume of surprisingly good undergraduate verse collected and edited by Alfred Noyes. On May 27 the Princeton University Press issued a history of "The Single Tax Movement in the United States" by Arthur N. Young, and a revised and enlarged edition of Dr. Conklin's "Heredity and Environment in the Development of Men."

THE BOBBS-MERRILL Co. reports that unbound copies of "The Hate Breeders," Ednah Aiken's "frightful" war play, are being sent into Germany via the balloon route by the anti-war Socialists. Hundreds of balloons, they say, have been specially made for use in this campaign, to each of which is attached a wicker cage containing manifestoes in German.

THE HARVARD UNIVERSITY PRESS are publishing to-day a volume of "Addresses on International Subjects" by Elihu Root, consisting of various lectures, state papers, reports as Secretary of War, his instructions to the American delegates to the Second Hague Convention, etc. The Harvard Press will also issue during June "Personality in German Literature" by Professor Kuno Francke, and "Genetics and Eugenics" by William E. Castle, Professor of Zoology in Harvard University and Research Associate of the Carnegie Institution, Washington.

DAUGHADAY & Co. announce for June 7 "Why Preparedness" by Capt. H. J. Reilly, U. S. A. Capt. Reilly, a West Point graduate, a veteran officer of ten years' service in the United States cavalry, an eye-witness of the fighting in France and Poland, in his letters from the front, lays bare in simple, straightforward, untechnical language, free from prejudice but full of earnest patriotism the things which he saw at the front. The book contains an introduction by Major-General Leonard Wood.

AT THE CONVENTION in Chicago one bookseller called especial attention to the inanity of many fiction titles. As if in answer to this reproach a publishing house, Small, Maynard & Co., announces an offer of $100 to the bookseller suggesting the best title for a novel to be published by it in the fall. Proofs of the unnamed novel will be forwarded at once to all persons desiring to compete, suggested titles must reach the publishers by July 22 and the winning title—the retailers' idea of what a real fiction title should be—will be announced shortly thereafter.

$296.62 WAS CONTRIBUTED by New York publishers to meet the expenses of the band, flags, etc., for the 600 men who marched in the publishers' section of the New York preparedness parade on May 13. A balance of $8.35 remaining after the parade was donated to the Plattsburg camp. Each of the following houses contributed $20 toward the parade: D. Appleton & Co., Butterick Publishing Co., Dodd, Mead & Co., E. P. Dutton & Co., Encyclopædia Britannica, Henry Holt & Co., P. J. Kenedy & Sons, Longmans, Green & Co., G. McClure Publications, Moffat, Yard & Co.; G. P. Putnam's Sons, Fleming H. Revell & Co. Review of Reviews, Charles Scribner's Sons.

IN A RECENT ISSUE of The Publishers' Circular, Joseph Shaylor urges that books by untried authors, works in the purchase of which the dealer incurs more than the ordinary risk, be returnable to the publishers within six months; secondly, that the publisher make a plain distinction between books in which he is financially concerned and those which he issues at the author's expense; and thirdly, that he always fix his terms and adhere to them with both wholesale and retail dealer, and the rates of discount to these dealers be permanently established and strictly observed by all publishers, acting in harmony.

THE HAWTHORNE MEMORIAL ASSOCIATION, INC., a body founded in Salem, but in which many distinguished men of letters in England and America have accepted honorary membership, has sent out an appeal for subscriptions to raise a memorial in the city of Salem, where is the Custom House in which he served as surveyor, the house in which he wrote "The Scarlet Letter," the site of the House of Seven Gables, and the big square house with which he linked the name of Dr. Grimshawe. A statue has been proposed, for which Bela M. Pratt has submitted a sketch. It shows Hawthorne as he used to sit looking out by the hour over the ocean. In all, $25,000 is required.

THE DIRECTORS OF CASSELL & Co. in the annual report, submitted to the general meeting of the shareholders on March 31st, state that after providing for bad and doubtful debts, depreciation, and all expenses of management, there was a profit of £12,158 18s. 9d. for the year. Deducting £3720 interest on debentures, the balance £8438 18s. 9d. with £5214 1s. brought forward makes the net balance £13,652 19s. 9d. This result the Directors consider very satisfactory in view of the war, but having regard to the advantage of retaining a substantial cash balance in this time of financial stringency they regret they cannot recommend the payment of a dividend. They report that about two hundred members of the staff have joined the Forces of whom five have been killed in action.

CHARGES THAT OFFICIALS of the Photo-Engravers' Board of Trade of New York City have conspired to raise prices on their products were presented to the Grand Jury this week by District Attorney Swann. Mr. Swann's decision followed a conference with the counsel for the New York Trade Press Association, the complainant in the case, who furnished evidence which convinced the District Attorney that the Photo-Engravers' Board of Trade have not conformed to their agreement made a few days ago to discontinue their price-cutting agreement. "That scale of prices may have been withdrawn," said the District Attorney early in the week, "but they now seem to be acting under a 'gentlemen's agreement.' At all events they have not lived up to their promise and just as soon as we can get the witnesses and evidence collected we shall take the matter to the Grand Jury."

A CONCRETE EXAMPLE of the price changes that are going on in the English trade is furnished by the following resolutions adopted recently by the Booksellers' Association of Hastings, St. Leonards and Bexhill: (1) That no larger discount be allowed to the public than 2d. in the 1s. off subject books. (All net books, net.) (2) All subject books, 2s. and under, to be sold net. (3) All subject books, at 2s. 6d. and over, to be sold at a discount of not more than 2d. in the 1s. (4) A discount of not more than 2d. in the 1s. may be given off all prices in subject books if purchased in bulk of not less than 20s., by any authorized person, such as clergy, teachers, etc. (5) All magazines and sixpenny paper novels, net. (6) Educational, technical and engineering works, whatever is adopted by the London booksellers. (Result to be notified later.)

VARIOUS VIEWS ARE held regarding the efficacy of stuffing magazines purchased at the bookstore news counter with publishers' book circulars. A just published book which would seem to be fitted to such exploitation—especially in connection with such periodicals as the Atlantic, Scribner's, Century, Harper's Monthly, Nation, etc.—is Algernon Tassin's readably written history of "The Magazine in America" published by Dodd, Mead & Co. on June 3. Prof. Tassin, who is a member of the English Department of Columbia University and a well-known contributor to the Bookman, the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY's Book Review, and other magazines, here discusses the odd beginning of the magazine idea, the brilliant group of editors in the 'fifties, the evolution of the more recent forms of the magazine, and the rise of the popular magazines of to-day.

IT IS NOT GENERALLY known, Geyer's Stationer points out, that in the State of New Jersey there is a law quite similar in its ramifications to the so-called Stephens measure. This law was passed in 1913 at the request of the Advertising Men's League of New York, and was tested in the case of Ingersoll vs. Goldstein, in the New Jersey Court of Chancery. The court decided that the law was in derogation of the common law, and must be strictly construed. A notice in an Ingersoll watch forbidding its sale at less than one dollar, but not in terms prohibiting the practice denounced by the statute was insufficient. The original law prohibiting the use of manufacturers' names or the depreciation of manufacturers' prices "for the purpose of attracting trade for other goods" was amended on March 16, the words quoted being stricken out. In its amended form the law reads as follows: "It shall be unlawful for any merchant, firm or corporation to appropriate for his or their own use a name, brand, trade-mark, reputation or good will of any maker in whose product said merchant, firm or corporation deals, or to discriminate against the same by depreciating the value of such products in the public mind, or by misrepresentation as to value or quality, or by price inducement, or by unfair discrimination between buyers, or in any other manner whatsoever except in cases where said goods do not carry any notice prohibiting such practice, and excepting in case of a receiver's sale, or a sale by a concern going out of business." The law has worked out well in New Jersey, it is said.

THE LATEST PIECE of Doubleday-Page & Co. ingenuity has come to light in connection with the exploitation of the Williamsons' new book of motor travel, "The Lightning Conductor Discovers America." The backbone of this new tale of mystery, adventure, romance and travel is a motor jaunt which covered the most beautiful of the motor sections of Long Island, then came across to the main land, started at Rye, N. Y., went north through Stamford, Norwalk, Bridgeport, New Haven, New London, Narragansett Pier, Newport, Fall River, through New Hampshire and up along the Maine coast to Portland and back by a roundabout way which covered the most beautiful of the motoring country along the Hudson including Newburgh, West Point and Tuxedo, down through the Delaware Water Gap. As a follow up the Doubleday, Page & Co. salesmen have followed the tour of the "Lightning Conductor" by automobile, covering every stop that was made on the original trip. Not only have they visited the local book-dealers in all of these towns but they have broken new trails by placing books in places that never handled books before—road houses, etc. The salesmen put up attractive signs all along the route of the Lightning Conductor in the same manner as the American Automobile Association signs pointing out that this is the route taken by the Lightning Conductor on his tour of discovery in America. So far as we know this is the first time that a book has ever been traveled in the Eastern States in just this way and the result of the exploitation should be interesting to the booksellers throughout the country. The New England and New York trip was made by Mr. G. V. Seiffert who spent two weeks on the tour; while the Long Island trip was made by Mr. Harry Apeler who covered his territory in about a week.

GEORGE D. SMITH has just bought intact the largest collection of the works of Sir Francis Bacon in existence. This was the property of the late Dr. G. W. Steeves, of 9 Cavendish Square, London, and formed part of Dr. Steeves's books offered for public sale at Sotheby's in London on May 25 and 26. In the lot of Baconiana bought by Mr. Smith are 75 items. It is understood a lump sum of about $10,000 was paid for the whole collection, which Mr. Smith bought for himself. The fine Huth collection contained 16 original editions of Bacon's works, and even the Robert Hoe library listed only 25 titles. Among the greatest rarities acquired by Mr. Smith are "Essaies, Religious Meditations, Places of Perswasion and Diswasion, Seene and Allowed," printed in London, 1606, for John Jaggard; "Sir Francis Bacon, His Apologie in Certain Imputations Concerning the Late Earle of Essex" (London, 1605), "Essaies, Religious Meditations," etc. (London, 1612), an amplified reprint of Jaggard's pirated edition. There is also a copy of the very rare fourth edition of Bacon's Essays. Another rare edition of the Essays is that printed by I. D. for Elizabeth Jaggard in 1624. There is a superb copy of the first edition (1605) of "The Two Bookes of Francis Bacon. Of the Proficience and Advancement of learning Divine and Humane." A 1640 original edition of Shakespeare poems was also bought by G. D. Smith for $950. Among the other purchases of Mr. Smith were Fletcher's "Christ's Victorie and Triumph in Heauen and Earth," 1610, for $200; a number of rare volumes of works by the Countess of Pembroke Yuychurch, 1591 and 1592, $180; a 1567 edition of Horace, $110; a 1690 edition of John Locke's Essay on Human Understanding, $100; a 1632 edition of Shakespeare for $400; a 1601 edition of Southwell's "The Song of Mary, the Mother of Christ," $100; a 1646 edition of works by Sir John Suckling, $145. A rare 1648 edition of Herrick's "Hesperides, or the Works Both Human and Divine," was sold for $680.

A FOURTH FOLIO Shakespeare, printed in 1685, was bought by J. F. Drake on May 30 for $392 at the Garvey sale at the Anderson Galleries. The copy is slightly water stained and has a few tracings of book worms in the margin, but otherwise is in good condition.

BIBLIOGRAPHICAL NOTES.

MR. WILLIAM S. LLOYD, of Germantown, Philadelphia, has issued a "Catalogue of Various Editions of Robinson Crusoe and Other Books by and Referring to Daniel Defoe" which at once demands recognition as a valuable addition to Defoe bibliography. As a collector Mr. Lloyd has been singularly successful. He has paid his chief attention to "Robinson Crusoe" and he has copies in thirty-five tongues other than English. He has gone far towards realizing his boyhood ambition to own the largest number of copies of English "Crusoes" that could possibly be collected. The list includes 277 items, not all separate, but each, in some way or other, distinct.

AN INTERESTING ATTEMPT is being made by E. H. Courville, of 25 Rumsey Road, Brixton, London, to establish a new annual, "Autograph Prices Current," on the lines of "Book Prices Current" and "Art Prices Current." The first volume is a complete alphabetical and chronological record of all autograph letters, documents and manuscripts, sold at auction in London during the first two years of the war, August, 1914,—July, 1916, and the date and place of sale, name of purchaser and price of each lot, together with a comprehensive reference index comprising several thousand items. It will be issued in a limited edition, 8vo, cloth gilt, price 25s., and it is intended to issue these records annually, in continuation, at a nominal fee to subscribers.

A collection of addresses and papers dealing with foreign affairs. The volume is the first of a series of books presenting Mr. Root's lectures, his speeches, formal and informal, and the state papers written in the performance of his duties as an executive officer of the United States. QUALITY—An Acknowledgment

(Excerpt from letter dated April 27th from a Western publisher of technical books.)

"The work we had last fall from the Chicago house was, on the whole, very satisfactory, though no better than the work you did for us. On some points, however, I have been rather disappointed in the books of the new edition delivered by them in February. They are not as well bound as the previous lot . . . the paper does not run uniform . . . the books are not so well rounded and backed . . . etc."

THIS IS THE AGE OF THE SPECIALIST

In order to turn a manuscript into an attractive book, correct typographically, with appropriate paper, proper margins and appropriate binding, the services of the specialist in the manufacture of books are required.

The results secured from over fifteen years engaged exclusively in the manufacture of books convince us that it pays to specialize.

TWO DEATHS IN THE BRONX

A Volume of Poems. By Donald Evans

Ebony grey boards, uncut edges. $1.00 net.

Donald Evans has again sounded a new note in poetry, and possibly an important one. The modernism, mistakenly called Futurism, that in the preceding "Discords" and "Sonnetts from the Patagonian" sometimes merely amazed, in the present instance stimulates and satisfies.

The volume is a series of pitiless photographs of profligate men and women who fritter away life in the great cities seeking new pleasures, new sensations. It is a gallery of incurable poseurs. Mr. Evans's method of approach is irony, and each poem is a vial of acid. Here and there, too, out of the rank miasma of dissipation, fever and heartlessness there come lyric interludes that make only more poignant the essential sordidness of the whole.

Reference List of New Publications

Recorded in MAY, 1916

This Reference List enters the books recorded during the month under (1) author, in Clarendon type, anonymous books having Clarendon type for the first word; (2) title in Roman; (3) subject-heading in SMALL CAPS; (4) name of series in Italics.

A colon after initial designates the most usual given name, as: A: Augustus; B: Benjamin; C: Charles; D: David; E: Edward; F: Frederick; G: George; H: Henry; I: Isaac; J: John; L: Louis; N: Nicholas; P: Peter; R: Richard; S: Samuel; T: Thomas; W: William.

For books received sizes are given in CAPS, Q, O, D, etc., books not received sizes are given in Roman numerals, 4°, 8°, 12°, etc. Prices are added except when not supplied by publisher or obtainable only on specific request. Where not specified the binding is cloth.

Those desiring to learn the entire publishing output of the month in any one field should look under one of the following MAIN HEADINGS:

PHILOSOPHY	MEDICINE	LITERATURE
RELIGION AND THEOLOGY	AGRICULTURE	POETRY
SOCIOLOGY	HOUSEHOLD ECONOMICS	DRAMA
LAW	BUSINESS	FICTION
EDUCATION	ENGINEERING, TECHNOLOGY	BIOGRAPHY
PHILOLOGY	FINE ARTS	GEOGRAPHY AND TRAVEL
SCIENCE	GAMES, SPORTS, AMUSEMENTS	HISTORY

Besides the titles listed under each of these headings cross reference is made from each to a limited number of cognate headings which collectively give all the new publications of the month in the given subject or group of subjects.

Inquirers looking for books on a specific topic should look under the general subject to which that topic belongs, i.e. GEOLOGY rather than SILURIAN PERIOD; MATHEMATICS rather than CALCULUS; ECONOMICS rather than WAGES. Books regarding specific Religious denominations, countries and persons, however, should still be sought for under their individual names.
